The landlords, by mistake, did not pay the electricity bill for the month of March 2021. Due to this, the electricity department cut the connection. Mr. John has to pay the electricity bill of ₹ 2800 and ₹ 200 as penalty to resume the electricity connection. Mr. John claimed ₹ 3000 from Mr. Ram but Mr. Ram replied that he is liable only for ₹ 1500. 20. Explain the classification of the companies on the basis of control as per the Companies Act, 2013.

ANSWERS

1. (a) A, who owns two cars is selling red car to B. B thinks he is purchasing the black car. There is no consensus ad idem and hence not a valid contract.
 - (b) A threatened to shoot B if he (B) does not lend him ₹2,00,000 and B agreed to it. Here the agreement is entered into under coercion and hence not a valid contract.
 - (c) A agrees to sell his house to B against 100 kgs of cocaine (drugs). Such agreement is illegal as the consideration is unlawful.
 - (d) A ask B if he wants to buy his bike for ₹ 50,000. B agrees to buy bike. It is agreement which is enforceable by law. Hence, it is a valid contract.
 - (e) Mr. X agrees to write a book with a publisher. But after few days, X dies in an accident. Here the contract becomes void due to the impossibility of performance of the contract.
2. If the performance consists of payment of money and there are several debts to be paid, the payment shall be appropriated as per provisions of Sections 59, 60 and 61 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872. The debtor has, at the time of payment, the right of appropriating the payment. In default of debtor, the creditor has option of election and in default of either, the law will allow appropriation of debts in order of time.

In the present case, Mr. Harish had made two payments by way of two cheques. One cheque was exactly the amount of the bill drawn. It would be understood even though not specifically appropriated by Mr. Harish that it will be against the bill of exact amount. Hence cheque of ₹9,680 will be appropriated against the bill of ₹ 9,680 which was due in May 2021.

Cheque of ₹ 15000 can be appropriated against any lawful debt which is due even though the same is time-barred.

Hence, Mr. Ashish can appropriate the same against the debt of ₹12,120 which was due in 2018 and balance against ₹ 5650 which was due in August 2020.

3. Section 25 of Indian Contract Act, 1872 provides that an agreement made without consideration is valid if it is expressed in writing and registered under the law for the time being in force for the registration of documents and is made on account of natural love and affection between parties standing in a near relation to each other. In other words, a written and registered agreement based on natural love and affection between the parties standing in near relation to each other is enforceable even without consideration.

In the given problem, the transfer of house made by Mr. Shyam Mundra on account of natural love and affection between the parties standing in near relation to each other is written but not registered. Hence, this transfer is not enforceable.

4. According to the provisions of Section 11 of Indian Contract Act, 1872, a minor is disqualified from contracting. A contract with minor is void-ab-initio but minor can act as an agent. But he will not be liable to his principal for his acts.

In the instant case, Mr. Mukund appoints Mr. Parth, a minor as his agent to sale his car. Mr. Mukund clearly instructed to Mr. Parth that the minimum sale price of the car should be ₹ 2,00,000 yet Mr. Parth sold the car to Mr. Naman for ₹ 1,50,000.

- (a) Considering the facts, although the contract between Mr. Mukund and Mr. Parth is valid, Mr. Parth will not be liable to his principal for his acts. Hence, Mr. Mukund cannot recover the loss of ₹ 50,000.
 - (b) Further, Mr. Naman purchased the car from agent of Mr. Mukund, he got good title. Hence, Mr. Mukund cannot recover his car from Mr. Naman.
5. According to Section 27 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872, any agreement that restrains a person from carrying on a lawful trade, profession or business is a void agreement. However, there are certain exceptions to this rule. One of the statutory exceptions includes sale of Goodwill. The restraint as to sale of goodwill would be a valid restraint provided -
 - (i) Where the restraint is to refrain from carrying on a similar business,
 - (ii) The restrain should be within the specified local limits,

PAPER – 2 : BUSINESS LAWS & BUSINESS CORRESPONDENCE AND REPORTING 21

- (iii) The restraint should be not to carry on the similar business after sale of goodwill to the buyer for a price,
- (iv) The restriction should be reasonable. Reasonableness of restriction will depend upon number of factors as considered by court.

In the given case, Mukesh has sold the goodwill and there is restraint for not carrying on the same business of grocery store. However, the restriction imposed on Mukesh is unreasonable as he cannot carry similar business in whole of India for next 10 years. The restriction on restraint to similar kind of trade should be reasonable to make it a valid agreement.

Hence, Rohit cannot take any legal action against Mukesh as the restriction is unreasonable as per Section 27 of Indian Contract Act, 1872. Hence, the agreement made between in restraint of trade between Mukesh and Rohit is void agreement.

6. Section 69 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872 states that a person who is interested in the payment of money which another person is bound by law to pay, and who therefore pays it, is entitled to get it reimbursed by the other.

In the present case, D was lawfully bound to pay rent. P was interested in making the payment to D's landlord as his carriage was seized by him. Hence being an interested party, P made the payment and can recover the same from D.

7. As per the provisions of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930 there are three modes of delivery, i) Actual delivery, ii) Constructive delivery and iii) Symbolic delivery. When delivery is affected without any change in the custody or actual possession of the things, it is called constructive delivery or delivery by acknowledgement. Constructive delivery takes place when a person in possession of goods belonging to seller acknowledges to the buyer that he is holding the goods on buyer's behalf.

On the basis of above provisions and facts, it is clear that possession of the wheat has been transferred through constructive delivery. Hence, Avyukt is not right. He cannot claim the price back.

8. By virtue of provisions of Section 16 of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930, there is an implied condition that the goods should be in merchantable position at the time of transfer of property. Sometimes, the purpose for which the goods are required may be ascertained from the facts and conduct of the parties to the sale, or from the nature of description of the article purchased. In such a case, the buyer need not tell the seller the purpose for which he buys the goods.

On the basis of above provisions and facts given in the question, it is clear that as window size was not proper, window was not in merchantable condition. Hence, the implied condition as to merchantability was not fulfilled and Priyansh has the right to avoid the contract and recover his advance money back.

9. As per the Proviso to Section 27 of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930, a sale made by a mercantile agent of the goods would pass a good title to the buyer in the following circumstances; namely;
- (a) If he was in possession of the goods or documents with the consent of the owner;
 - (b) If the sale was made by him when acting in the ordinary course of business as a mercantile agent; and
 - (c) If the buyer had acted in good faith and has at the time of the contract of sale, no notice of the fact that the seller had no authority to sell.

On the basis of above, it can be said that Ravi, the mercantile agent, sells property to Mudit who bought in good faith. Mudit obtained a good title of that residential property. Hence, Ayushman cannot recover his property from Mudit. Rather, Ayushman can recover his loss from Ravi.

10. Lien is the right of a person to retain possession of the goods belonging to another until claim of the person in possession is satisfied. The unpaid seller has also right of lien over the goods for the price of the goods sold.

Section 47(1) of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930 provides that the unpaid seller who is in the possession of the goods is entitled to exercise right of lien in the following cases:-

1. Where the goods have been sold without any stipulation as to credit
2. Where the goods have been sold on credit but the term of credit has expired
3. Where the buyer has become insolvent even though the period of credit has not yet expired.

In the given case, A has agreed to sell certain goods to B on a credit of 10 days. The period of 10 days has expired. B has neither paid the price of goods nor taken the possession of the goods. That means the goods are still physically in the possession of A, the seller. In the meantime, B, the buyer has become insolvent. In this case, A is entitled to exercise the right of lien on the goods because the buyer has become insolvent and the term of credit has expired without any payment of price by the buyer.

PAPER – 2 : BUSINESS LAWS & BUSINESS CORRESPONDENCE AND REPORTING 23

11. The differences between Sale and Agreement to sell are as follows:

Basis of difference	Sale	Agreement to sell
Transfer of property	The property in the goods passes to the buyer immediately.	Property in the goods passes to the buyer on future date or on fulfilment of some condition.
Nature of contract	It is an executed contract i.e. contract for which consideration has been paid.	It is an executory contract i.e. contract for which consideration is to be paid at a future date.
Remedies for breach	The seller can sue the buyer for the price of the goods because of the passing of the property therein to the buyer.	The aggrieved party can sue for damages only and not for the price, unless the price was payable at a stated date.
Liability of parties	A subsequent loss or destruction of the goods is the liability of the buyer.	Such loss or destruction is the liability of the seller.
Burden of risk	Risk of loss is that of buyer since risk follows ownership.	Risk of loss is that of seller.
Nature of rights	Creates Jus in rem means right against the whole world.	Creates Jus in personam means rights against a particular party to the contract.
Right of resale	The seller cannot resell the goods.	The seller may sell the goods since ownership is with the seller.
In case of insolvency of seller	The official assignee will not be able to take over the goods but will recover the price from the buyer.	The official assignee will acquire control over the goods but the price will not be recoverable.
In case of insolvency of buyer	The official assignee will have control over the goods.	The official assignee will not have any control over the goods.

12. According to Section 4 of the Indian Partnership Act, 1932, "Partnership" is the relation between persons who have agreed to share the profits of a business carried on by all or any of them acting for all. Therefore, for determining the existence of partnership, it must be proved.

1. There must be an agreement between all the persons concerned;
2. The agreement must be to carry on some business;
3. The agreement must be to share the profits of a business and
4. The business was carried on by all or any of them acting for all.

On the basis of above provisions and facts provided in the question, Mr. Ram and Mr. Raheem cannot be said under partnership as they are teachers in a school and just purchased a flat jointly. By merely giving the flat on rent, they are not doing business. They are just earning the income from the property under their co-ownership. Hence, there is no partnership between them. Therefore, Mr. Ram is liable to pay his share only i.e. ₹ 1500. Mr. John has to claim rest ₹ 1500 from Mr. Raheem.

13. According to Section 20 of Indian Partnership Act, 1932, the partners in a firm may, by contract between the partners, extend or restrict the implied authority of any partner. Notwithstanding any such restriction, any act done by a partner on behalf of the firm which falls within his implied authority binds the firm, unless the person with whom he is dealing knows of the restriction or does not know or believe that partner to be a partner.

Further, according to Section 21, a partner has authority, in an emergency to do all such acts for the purpose of protecting the firm from loss as would be done by a person of ordinary prudence, in his own case, acting under similar circumstances, and such acts bind the firm.

On the basis of provisions and facts provided in the question, though Shyam was expressly authorised to sell the goods, Mohan sold the goods at some loss. It was very much clear that Mohan has done what a person of ordinary prudence does in an emergency to protect the firm from heavy loss. Hence, this sale will bind the firm.

14. By virtue of provisions of Section 45 of the Indian Partnership Act, 1932, notwithstanding the dissolution of a firm, the partners continue to be liable as such to third parties for any act done by any of them which would have been an act of the firm, if done before the dissolution, until public notice is given of the dissolution.

In the instant case, X and Y were partners in a firm which was dissolved but no public notice was given. After dissolution, X purchased some goods in the firm's name from Z who was ignorant of the fact of dissolution of firm. X became insolvent and Z filed a suit against Y for recovery of his amount.

PAPER – 2 : BUSINESS LAWS & BUSINESS CORRESPONDENCE AND REPORTING 25

Following the provisions of Section 45, X and Y are continuing liable against third party even after dissolution of firm until public notice is given. As in the given problem, X became insolvent, therefore, Y will be liable to Z.

15. Section 29 of the Indian Partnership Act, 1932 provides that a share in a partnership is transferable like any other property, but as the partnership relationship is based on mutual confidence, the assignee of a partner's interest by sale, mortgage or otherwise cannot enjoy the same rights and privileges as the original partner.

The rights of such a transferee are as follows:

- (1) During the continuance of partnership, such transferee is not entitled

- (a) to interfere with the conduct of the business,
- (b) to require accounts, or
- (c) to inspect books of the firm.

He is only entitled to receive the share of the profits of the transferring partner and he is bound to accept the profits as agreed to by the partners, i.e., he cannot challenge the accounts.

- (2) On the dissolution of the firm or on the retirement of the transferring partner, the transferee will be entitled, against the remaining partners:

- (a) to receive the share of the assets of the firm to which the transferring partner was entitled, and
- (b) for the purpose of ascertaining the share, he is entitled to an account as from the date of the dissolution.

By virtue of Section 31, no person can be introduced as a partner in a firm without the consent of all the partners. A partner cannot by transferring his own interest, make anybody else a partner in his place, unless the other partners agree to accept that person as a partner. At the same time, a partner is not debarred from transferring his interest. A partner's interest in the partnership can be regarded as an existing interest and tangible property which can be assigned.

16. Small Limited Liability Partnership [Section 2(ta) of the LLP Act, 2008]: It means a limited liability partnership—

- (i) the contribution of which, does not exceed twenty-five lakh rupees or such higher amount, not exceeding five crore rupees, as may be prescribed; and
- (ii) the turnover of which, as per the Statement of Accounts and Solvency for the immediately preceding financial year, does not exceed forty lakh rupees or such higher amount, not exceeding fifty crore rupees, as may be prescribed; or

- (iii) which meets such other requirements as may be prescribed, and fulfils such terms and conditions as may be prescribed.

17. (i) Perpetual Succession – A company on incorporation becomes a separate legal entity. It is an artificial legal person and have perpetual succession which means even if all the members of a company die, the company still continues to exist. It has permanent existence.

The existence of a company is independent of the lives of its members. It has a perpetual succession. In this problem, the company will continue as a legal entity. The company's existence is in no way affected by the death of all its members.

- (ii) The statement given is incorrect. A company is an artificial person as it is created by a process other than natural birth. It is legal or judicial as it is created by law. It is a person since it is clothed with all the rights of an individual. Further, the company being a separate legal entity can own property, have banking account, raise loans, incur liabilities and enter into contracts. Even members can contract with company, acquire right against it or incur liability to it. It can sue and be sued in its own name. It can do everything which any natural person can do except be sent to jail, take an oath, marry or practice a learned profession. Hence, it is a legal person in its own sense.

18. Doctrine of ultra vires: The meaning of the term ultra vires is simply “beyond (their) powers”. The legal phrase “ultra vires” is applicable only to acts done in excess of the legal powers of the doers. This presupposes that the powers in their nature are limited. It is a fundamental rule of Company Law that the objects of a company as stated in its memorandum can be departed from only to the extent permitted by the Act, thus far and no further. In consequence, any act done or a contract made by the company which travels beyond the powers not only of the directors but also of the company is wholly void and inoperative in law and is therefore not binding on the company. On this account, a company can be restrained from employing its fund for purposes other than those sanctioned by the memorandum. Likewise, it can be restrained from carrying on a trade different from the one it is authorised to carry on.

The impact of the doctrine of ultra vires is that a company can neither be sued on an ultra vires transaction, nor can it sue on it. Since the memorandum is a “public document”, it is open to public inspection. Therefore, when one deals with a company one is deemed to know about the powers of the company. If in spite of this you enter into a transaction which is ultra vires the company, you cannot enforce it against the company.

An act which is ultra vires the company being void, cannot be ratified even by the unanimous consent of all the shareholders of the company.

PAPER – 2 : BUSINESS LAWS & BUSINESS CORRESPONDENCE AND REPORTING 27

Hence in the given case, ABC Limited cannot enter into a contract outside the purview of its object clause of Memorandum of Association as it becomes ultra vires and thus null and void.

19. According to doctrine of Indoor Management, persons dealing with the Company are presumed to have read the registered documents and to see that the proposed dealing is not inconsistent therewith, but they are not bound to do more; they need not enquire into the regularity of internal proceedings as required by Memorandum and Articles. This was also decided in case of Royal British Bank Vs. Turquand.

In the instant case, XYZ Private Limited have taken loan from reputed bank for ₹ 10,00,000 by passing Board Resolution while Special Resolution was necessary for such amount. BOD gave an undertaking to bank that Special Resolution has been passed for such loan. The bank on believing on such undertaking lends the money. On demanding the repayment of loan, company denied the payment as act was ultra vires to company.

On the basis of provisions of doctrine of indoor management, the bank can claim the amount of his loan from the company. The bank can believe on the undertaking given by board and no need to enquire further.

20. In line with the Companies Act, 2013, following are the classification of the Companies on the basis of control:

- (a) Holding and subsidiary companies: 'Holding and subsidiary' companies are relative terms.

A company is a holding company in relation to one or more other companies, means a company of which such companies are subsidiary companies. [Section 2(46)]

For the purposes of this clause, the expression "company" includes any body corporate.

Whereas section 2(87) defines "subsidiary company" in relation to any other company (that is to say the holding company), means a company in which the holding company—

- (i) controls the composition of the Board of Directors; or
- (ii) exercises or controls more than one-half of the total voting power either at its own or together with one or more of its subsidiary companies:

Provided that such class or classes of holding companies as may be prescribed shall not have layers of subsidiaries beyond such numbers as may be prescribed.

- (b) Associate company [Section 2(6)]: In relation to another company, means a company in which that other company has a significant influence, but which is not a subsidiary company of the company having such influence and includes a joint venture company.

Explanation. — For the purpose of this clause —

- (i) the expression “significant influence” means control of at least twenty per cent of total voting power, or control of or participation in business decisions under an agreement;
- (ii) the expression “joint venture” means a joint arrangement whereby the parties that have joint control of the arrangement have rights to the net assets of the arrangement.

The term “Total Share Capital”, means the aggregate of the -

- (1) Paid-up equity share capital; and
- (2) Convertible preference share capital.

Whether you are at a railway station, at a restaurant, in the park or just walking on a street, you would come across youngsters clicking pictures of themselves, which are more commonly known as selfies. Though these selfies are good for social media post's but there have been several instances where selfie obsessed youngsters have severely injured themselves or even met with their death while taking a selfie. Oblivious of the surroundings, people have fallen to their death or have been run over by vehicles while in the process of taking a selfie. Some individuals have even gone a step ahead and attempted to take a selfie at a dangerous place or in difficult positions, there by meeting a gory end.

Infact, such is the craze of selfies in India that it has been recorded as having one of the highest number of selfie related deaths in the world. A study conducted in 2016, titled, 'Me Myself and my Killfie', estimated that of the 127 selfie deaths across the globe in the same year, 76 occurred in India alone. In contrast, Pakistan reported just 9 deaths while both the US and Russia witnessed 8 and 6 deaths respectively. It is the youngsters, under the age of 25, who are more prone to explore newer and more dangerous selfies. While in US, most people had selfie related deaths by falling off high buildings and mountain cliffs, in India most such deaths have been water related or near the railway tracks. The authors of the study hope that their study will serve as a warning for the people and would inspire new technology that would warn selfie takers when they are in risky zones.

Taking selfies is not wrong, but it is imperative to be aware of the surroundings. Selfies should be avoided in dangerous places, for it is always better to be safe than sorry.

2. Read the given passage carefully and answer the questions that follow.

In the heart of the city of Kolkata, a man is singing his voice straining to be heard over the roar of traffic that encircles the maidan. A veteran singer of kathas, he is past of a vast gathering of entertainers, acrobats, palmists, and 'sundry folk', who meet at the Dharamtala Mela every Sunday afternoon. Accompanied by his dholak, the singer punctuates his story of blood and romance with pithy reverences to the state of the downtrodden. Listening to him intently are labourers and vagrants who sit around him in a circle, responding to his skillful interweaving of fact and fiction, myth and history.

Clearly, the singer knows how to tell a story as can be judged from the way he pitches his voice, varies his rhythm, breaks the narrative, then picks it up unexpectedly, only to shift the perspective of his story with a change in voice and transformation of character. The performance ends after hours of non-stop delivery, whereupon 10 to 20 paise coins are collected from the crowd who part with what they can spare. The entire collection adds up to barely four to five rupees.

As the crowd disperses, I talk to the performer haltingly and express my appreciation with a small donation. I learn that he is in his 70's, he lives in Shyam bazar though his home state is Bihar and that he has been singing all his life. Later, as he rushes to catch his bus, I am left thinking about him and the possibilities of his representation. He is free to sing, but he is also desperately poor. In spite of the state, he exists. But for how long? And at what cost?

Questions

1. The singer is a native of which state?
 - (a) West Bengal
 - (b) Kolkata
 - (c) Bihar
 - (d) Cant say.
2. The passage is mainly about:
 - (a) An unrecognised singer

3. Read the given passage carefully and answer the questions that follow.

It is an indisputable fact that the world has gone too far with the innovation of new technologies such as mobile phones, the internet and so on, due to which people are able to tour the cosmos virtually sitting at one place using their smart devices or other technological gadgets. Though mobile internet access is oftentimes hurried and short, it can still provide common interest features like alerts, weather data, emails, search engines, instant messages, and game and music downloading.

Due to the easy access of smart phones, communication has been very efficient and quick. Messages get conveyed in an instant, even around the world, personal and professional talks/meetings happen; even business deals of high valuation happen over the internet now a days. Moreover, youngsters have been able to enhance their skills by the use of internet and these gadgets. Many educational institutions have started offering online classes for various courses for the easy and comfort of the students.

The mobile smart phone has acted as a life saver for many, especially in times of exigency. Likewise, smart phones can be used to avoid/prevent and even detect crimes in the society. Information can easily get tracked and the culprits can be traced by their location.

Nonetheless, for the young the use of mobile phones can be like an addiction and they can misuse it. Youngsters are prone to getting involved in undesirable and anti-social activities by virtue of their inquisitiveness. This might not only effect their academic performance, but also cause mental health issues. A number of depression and suicide cases have been observed in adolescents due to over exposure to the internet and involvement in morally incorrect activities. A major contributor to this problem is the prepaid or pay as you go service offered by a phone shop or an online store. Without having understood the repercussions of such services, youngsters get trapped and even end up sharing the PIN numbers of their parents' debit and credit cards. This further leads to misuse of money and related crimes.

The fact remains that technology has its own pros and cons. It depends on us whether we make use of it judiciously or impetuously.

Questions

1. How has the mobile phone acted as a life saver?
2. How have mobile phones made communication easy and quick?
3. What negative effects has the author mentioned, youngsters can face while using mobiles?
4. The word 'judiciously' as used in the passage means:
 - a) Attractively
 - b) Carelessly

- c) Wisely
 - d) Dedicatedly
5. Explain the main idea of the passage in about 20 to 30 words.
 6. What common interest features does mobile internet provide?

Chapter-5

 - (i) Make notes, using headings, sub-headings and using abbreviations wherever necessary.

Passage-1

The Indus Valley Civilization is one of the oldest civilizations in human history. It arose on the Indian subcontinent nearly 5,000 years ago — roughly the same time as the emergence of ancient Egypt and nearly 1,000 years after the earliest Sumerian cities of Mesopotamia. The Indus Valley Civilization, in its mature phase, thrived for about 700 years, from around 2600 B.C. to 1900 B.C.

"The Indus Valley Civilization, also called the Saraswati or Harappan civilization, is one of the 'pristine' civilizations on our planet," William Belcher, an anthropologist at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, told Live Science.

A pristine civilization is one that arose indigenously or independently of other civilizations. More specifically, it is one that developed on its own, without conquest, and without the benefit of cultural exchange or immigration with another established society. Generally, the six pristine civilizations recognized by archaeologists and historians are in the following areas: Egypt, Mesopotamia, China, Mesoamerica (which includes parts of Mexico and Central America), the Andean region and the Indus Valley. These civilizations arose at different times — the earliest of these, Mesopotamia, arose some 6,000 years ago, while the earliest Andean civilization, the Chavin, (opens in new tab) developed in approximately 900 B.C.

The Indus Valley Civilization derives its name from the Indus River, one of the longest rivers in Asia. Many of the Indus Valley Civilization's large, well-planned cities, such as Mohenjo-Daro, Kot Diji and Chanhudaro, were situated along the course of the Indus river, which flows from the mountains of western Tibet, through the disputed region of Kashmir and southwestward before emptying into the Arabian Sea near the modern city of Karachi, Pakistan. Other Indus Valley Civilization cities were located next to different major rivers, such as the Ghaggar-Hakra, Sutlej, Jhelum, Chenab and the Ravi rivers or on the alluvial floodplains between rivers. Today, much of this area is part of the Punjab region, which is translated as the "land of the five rivers" in what is now Pakistan. Other Indus Valley Civilization cities are located in northwest India, and a few additional cities are in northeastern Afghanistan, near archaeological sites where tin and lapis lazuli, a blue metamorphic rock, were mined.

Passage -2

Ideas rule the world. You shape your fate and decide your destiny by your thoughts. You have to think high to rise. You have to believe and be sure of yourself to win a prize. Life's battles don't always go stronger or the faster man. But sooner or later, the man who wins is the man who thinks he can.

Success starts with your thoughts. Whatever your mind can conceive and believe, it can achieve. And your mind is nothing more than a bundle of thoughts. Since you have the power to shape your thoughts, you automatically have the power to fashion your fate and decide your destiny. Thus, your thoughts are the most potent, powerful and prime source of your success. For your thoughts to blossom into success, they should be combined with definiteness of purpose, perseverance and a burning, pulsating strong desire to translate them into action. Believe that you will success and believe it firmly. You will then do whatever is necessary to bring success about.

Faith in yourself as well as the confidence that you can and will succeed are the key to your success at any step in life. If you keep your mind and heart focused on your goal and your thoughts have only the goal in them, you will do splendid in your life. You will find yourself capturing all the opportunities that come your way. Your energy will be directed, consciously or unconsciously towards your goal and you will be close to success.

Always, remember, thoughts are the most supreme, the most significant. Preserve the right attitude, right courage, frankness and confidence. Think of success in your work and you will do great. If your desire is weak, changing; your focus will be the same and the percentage of achieving success will reduce. But if you pursue your goal, with single minded attention, then nobody can stop you. A well- defined goal, a clear thought, a planned path and the will to win, are the key ingredients to become successful.

Chapter-7 Précis Writing

Write a précis and give an appropriate title to the passage given below.

1. Logic is the study of the methods and principles used to distinguish good (correct) reasoning from bad (incorrect) reasoning. This definition must not be taken to imply that only the student of logic can reason well or correctly. To say so, would be mistaken as to say that to run well requires studying the physics and physiology involved in that activity. Some excellent athletes are quite ignorant of the complex processes that go inside their bodies while they perform. And needless to say the somewhat elderly professors who know most about such things would perform very poorly, were they to risk their dignity on the athletic field. Even given the same basic muscular and nervous apparatus, the person who knows might not surpass the 'natural athlete'.

Logic has frequently been defined as the science of the laws of thought. But this definition, although it gives a clue to the nature of logic, is not accurate. In the first place, thinking is studied by psychologists. Logic cannot be 'the' science of the laws of thought, because psychology is also a science that deals with the laws of thoughts.

2. When we survey our lives and efforts, we soon observe that almost the whole of our actions and desires are bound up with the existence of other human beings. We notice that whole nature resembles that of the social animals. We eat food that others have produced, wear clothes that others have made, live in houses that others have built. The greater part of our knowledge and beliefs has been passed on to us by other people through the medium of a language which others have created. Without language and mental capacities, we would have been poor indeed comparable to higher animals. We have, therefore, to admit that we owe our principal knowledge over the least to the fact of living in human society. The individual if left alone from birth would remain primitive and beast like in his thoughts and feelings to a degree that we can hardly imagine. The individual is what he is and has the significance that he has, not much in virtue of the individuality, but rather as a member of a great human community, which directs his material and spiritual existence from the cradle to grave.
3. The tree is worshipped as the Earth mother in tribal India. It gives us food, air and work and also housing material. Moreover, trees also sometimes give fodder for animals and fuel for energy making. Without trees, there is no soil; nothing can prevent soil from getting washed away. In the tribal areas of India, where we find the Bhils, Santhals, the Nagas and the Bishnois, whenever a child is born, a tree is planted in his/her name. This enables a strong relationship between the child and the tree. As the child grows, the tree also grows and starts bearing fruits. It starts its life as a food giver to the tribal community and the tribal becomes the guardian of the tree. This kind of a nature shows the true faith in nature. The tribals worship nature and make sure no human intervenes. This is a learning lesson for all those who tamper with nature in the name of urbanization. Every entity, small or big, plant or animal has a place in life; with its due importance. If humans start intervening and disturbing Nature, the fury is felt in the form of natural calamities like floods, and droughts. It is an earnest request to all the mankind; Let's work together to make the world a better place to love, not a bitter place.

The individual, thus becomes a member of the great humanity and that is what takes him through the journey from cradle to grave.

The tribals become the guardian of the tree and ensure no unwanted human intervention with nature. One needs to fear nature's fury and work in harmony with the environment. 2. Dear clients, Greetings!

This is with respect to the new norms and policies our organization has decided upon for future business. In the light of a mutually beneficial business relationship, the committee members have decided to revise the fee for print and social media advertising. Also, we request the clients to give us atleast two weeks for working on the requirements, to enable us to deliver quality work.

We would expect 25% of the full payment to be paid, at the beginning of the project. Balance amount can be paid, after the full completion of the project. This has been done seeing our past bitter experiences with a few clients. We have full faith in you; however business ethics cannot be over ruled

A team member will share with you all the necessary changes/additions made to our work policies. For any help regarding the matter, please feel free to contact him through email or phone call.
